

KILLING AT CAYCE.

HILLIARD BROWN KILLS TOM JORDAN.

Tom Jordan and Hilliard Brown, both colored, became involved in a difficulty at Cayce Sunday evening, in which Hilliard Brown shot and killed Jordan. The trouble was about a colored woman, Jordan claiming that the woman was his wife, but the woman denied the charge. Jordan, it is said, sent word to Hilliard Brown that he intended to kill him. On Sunday they met, and Jordan commenced the assault, asserting that one or both of them must die, drawing his pistol, snapping it several times, and firing one shot at Brown. Brown in the meantime had much difficulty in getting his gun, but when he did get it, one shot killed his man.

Jordan was arrested by Sheriff Carpenter and his examining trial was held before Judge Kearby Monday. The court discharged the prisoner, the evidence being clear that he acted in self-defense.

MOST VALUABLE GARDEN IN THE WORLD.

[N. Y. Mail and Express.]

Lying in the very heart of New York's ultra-fashionable district, between West End Avenue and Riverside Drive, is the most valuable farm in the world. It is a real farm, too, not the fad of a rich owner or the experiment station of some cranky vegetarian. It is tilled regularly every year, and its produce is sold at the nearest market. It is only one acre in area, and it is worth $250,000.

A bit of history attaches to the spot. In 1863 it formed part of what was known as the Broadway Garden. Here was a famous recruiting station for the Government, with a sort of camp and barracks combined. When a man enlisted he was kept at drills in the camp until a batch of other recruits had been secured and an order to move to the front had arrived. But patriotism was not the sole motive for enlistment in those troublous days. A "bounty" was paid. Sometimes the bounty was $300, and when recruits were scarce it was sometimes as high as a thousand dollars. The money was paid to the volunteer immediately after enlistment, hence the temptation to "jump" the bounty was great in the case of certain classes of men.

BIRTH OF A NEW CHURCH.

ANOTHER RELIGIOUS DENOMINATION SEEMS PROBABLE.

[Associate Press.]

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 24.—Has the Methodist church, South, strayed away from the teachings of John Wesley, or has a strong minority strayed away from the church?

This question promises to be threshed out at the eighty-second annual conference which will meet at London, Ky., Sept. 3.

For several years the doctrine of "holiness" has been much agitated and has caused a division against the teachers of the doctrine. So far there has been no open rupture, but the coming conference will probably be forced to take action.

John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, and whose sermons and doctrines are incorporated in the constitution of the church, was very definite and pronounced in his views in many things, yet it is claimed he failed to express himself definitely on the theory of sanctification. As a consequence two schools of teachers have arisen in the church. The conflict has been spirited and both sides are equally determined.

The leaders of the "second blessingists" have got a point that they charge openly, by publication and otherwise, that the other side is composed of back-sliders, who have left Wesley.

At present the chief leader of the "second blessingist" is Rev. H. C. Morrison of Louisville, publisher of the Pentecostal Herald, a Holiness paper. He has issued a call for a "union" of the Holiness people and has formulated a constitution. He recently charges that the church, South, have gone away from Wesley and the bible. In order that the doctrine "may be preserved" he thinks a distinct organization on this line is necessary. Mr. Morrison is gifted and popular and has a large following throughout the south. It is confidently believed that some of his charges against the church will be seriously considered at the coming Kentucky conference.

MUSEUM FREAK DEHORND.

Dr. E. S. Vanduyt at the Hospital of the Good Shepherd this morning performed a unique operation which dehorned Calvin Bird, a colored man, who has been exhibited as a wild man.

According to Bird's story, Dr. John Dada, a dentist from Central America, put him under the influence of ether, made incisions in his scalp and put under the scalp silver plates on each side of the head, to which was screwed goat horns. The deception was perfect, and Dada made a fortune out of his "freak." The Syracuse physician found the plates as the man said and removed them.—Syracuse Cor. to N. Y. World.

Automobile Murder.

[Philadelphia Medical Journal.]

The man who drives an automobile along the highways at sixty miles an hour courts death for himself and threatens it to others. The death of young Fair by an automobile accident in France need greatly surprise, or seriously grieve no one. If the young man had lived much longer he would probably have killed some one whose life was much more valuable than his own. A more foolhardy and more unjustifiable caprice than this fast driving of automobiles is impossible to conceive. Symptomatic for this victim of a self-inflicted immolation should be tempered by a consideration of the fact that Fair was deliberately, recklessly and selfishly imperiling the lives of others when he lost his wife's and his own.

I tried everything to relieve them which failed until I used White's Cream Vermifuge; the first two doses brought four worms from one of them, the next two doses, twelve, one of them measuring twelve inches; the other child was only relieved of four worms. A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED.

At Panama, Columbia, by Chamberlain's colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Chas. H. Utter, a prominent physician, of Panama, Columbia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady sixteen years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her mother became so weak that she could not get over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study to me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better, inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by Cowgill & Cowgill.

Wade's ice factory at Fulton has filed suit against the Standard Oil Co. for $1,500, the alleged damages resulting from the Standard Oil Company running a pipe near the ice factory well and the pipe becoming old and rusty oil leaked into the well and damaged ice product, thereby causing them to lose customers.

QUEEN OF BEGGARS.

(New York Herald.)

With the arrest of Mrs. Jean C. Hunter on Wall street yesterday afternoon on a charge of vagrancy, Central Office men and agents of the Charity Organization Society declare that the "Queen of Vagrants," the most skillful beggar in the land, is at last in custody. They endeavored to prove the assertion later in the Center Street Court, when, with letters found in the woman's possession and other evidence, they swore that by her arts she has made a fortune of $5,000 annually in this city for the last five years.

Almost every charitable person of great wealth in this city, they asserted, had been kind to her, and her own papers showed that in Wall street alone few, if any, of the great houses of finance had refused her aid. Her "subscription" lists read almost like a directory of the street.

KILLED HIS SWEETHEART.

Huntingdon, Tenn., Aug. 25.—News has just reached here which states Miss Maude Thompson was killed by James Greer near the young lady's home, in Henderson county.

The report says that Greer was at the girl's house last spring and tried to get her to go away with him, which she refused to do. He, it is said, told her he was coming back in August, and if she did not go with him then he would kill her.

On the day set for Greer to come back he is said to have accosted Maude and her mother as they were going to church. He came out of a gully and overtook the two women, asking of the elder, "Have you got anything against me?" She answered "No," and Maude spoke up and said, "None of us have anything against you." Greer then said, "Miss Maude, I have a word for you," and stepping in between Maude and her mother, said something in a low tone which the mother did not hear, threw one arm around Maude's neck and shot her twice with a pistol. The girl lived only a short time. Greer made his escape.

RESULT OF THE MIMIC FIGHT.

No doubt if a big navy is necessary, naval maneuvers are necessary to its highest excellence, but the only thing which the mimic warfare off the New England coast is claimed to have developed so far is the fact that our warships are not sufficiently provided with signals.

The really useful thing about such evolutions is the imitation they give the sailors of what should be done in case of actual engagement with the enemy. Of course, they are drilled in the routine duties of marines and taught theoretically what should be done in actual battle, but there is nothing half so valuable as actual experience and the next best thing to actual experience in fighting is the closest possible mimicry of fighting.

As there was no shooting done they do not know just what would have been the effect had the captured fleet actually used its guns, but the supposition was that in such position, with both fleets using their armaments to best effect, the ships of Pillsbury would have been compelled to strike their colors to Higginson, and therefore the commander went through the form of handing over his sword to the admiral.

CASH SHOE STORE,

RICE & NAYLOR.

Kind Friend:—As we watch the onward march of the business world, we realize the necessity of adopting the cash system, therefore on and after Sept. 1st, 1902 we shall do a cash business. Everything to be paid for when received or taken from the store. Then there will be no due bill to be received by you and no charge to be forgotten by us.

Everyone who knows us are well aware of the fact that we have made a fair success in business. We attribute our success to the watchfulness we have taken in looking after our trade and if we had the least doubt that the cash system was not for the benefit of our customers and friends we would not think of attempting it, as our patrons are the life of the firm of Rice & Naylor, and when we benefit our customers we help ourselves.

When you buy for cash you are free and independent, you are under obligation to no one, you buy your goods of the man who gives you the best bargains, and with our cash system we are going to do our best to convince you that we can that, and if we don't we will not say one word if you trade with our competitors.

We hope you will call and look through our stock and compare our prices with those of any other firm.

Very truly your friends,
